Barcelona's Architecture

Barcelona's architecture reflects its rich cultural heritage, blending Gothic and Modernism styles. Antoni Gaudi's masterpieces define the city's skyline.

Key highlights include:

1. Sagrada Familia:

- A stunning basilica combining Gothic and Art Nouveau elements.

Address: Carrer de Mallorca, 401, 08013 Barcelona, Spain

(Across the way is the Hotel Colon: Hotel Colon with a rooftop bar that offers snacks and drinks and an incredible view of the cathedral. Line to get to the rooftop bar does queue outside. Wait time varies but not usually a long wait time)

2. Park Guell:

- A colorful, whimsical park showcasing Gaudi's brilliance.

Address: Carrer d'Olot, s/n, 08024 Barcelona, Spain

3. Casa Batllo:

- Known for its dragon-like facade and enchanting, nature-inspired interiors.

Address: Pla de la Seu, s/n, 08002 Barcelona, Spain

Tipping culture in Barcelona

In Barcelona, tipping is not obligatory but is appreciated for good service. Locals often round up the bill or leave small change in restaurants and cafes. For exceptional service, a tip of 5-10% is considered generous. In bars, tipping is less common, though leaving small change is a nice gesture. Hotel staff and taxi drivers do not expect tips, but rounding up the fare or leaving a euro or two for assistance is appreciated. Overall, tipping in Barcelona is more discretionary compared to countries like the United States.
